Newport - Their Plan, More

- What have they done?: Split the city centre up into regeneration parts with different aims

- Friars Walk, Friars Walk shopping centre
 - Opened in 2015
 - Replaced previous shopping centre
 - Over £100 million invested
 - Aims:
 - Aimed to bring people back to Newport city centre and increase real activity
 - Wanted to attract further private investment
- Housing
 - £11 million investment into central view project (part of the vibrant and viable places programme). This converted city centre into 38 apartments with commercial space, rooftop gardens and more facilities
- £15 or £22 million, 3 years, Vibrant and Viable Places Programme (Welsh government programme the city used)
 - Improve vacant homes and important buildings and get them full
 - Created new residential and business spaces to support business
 - Completed in 2017
 - More Skills and training opportunities
- Further investments

- Waterfront (arts and entertainment: includes newport green and theatre and arts centre)
 - University campus
 - Railway station (£25) (2010)
 - Business buildings
 - Aims:
 - Wanted to make the city centre more than just shops so that there would be more reason to go there. So combined retail, housing, education and leisure.
- Newport Now
- Issues before revitalisation:
 - Declining investment and problems with city centre
 - Wanted a more modern city that would attract more residents, visitors shoppers and businesses
 - They hoped investment in the centre would unlock further private sector investment
- Location:
 - Located primarily in city centre such as friars walk, railway station and waterfront in order to help connect all parts of the city
- Effects: info
 - Friars walk = major new shopping and leisure destination = hundreds of new jobs. Also attracted over 10 million visitors in its first year. source
 - Turned vacant buildings into houses and business premises
 - Regeneration strategies gave skills and training to over 800 residents and supported over 600 people into full time employment
- Compare: Swindon aims
 - Both have heavy retail reliance
 - Both want mixed centres that aren't just shopping centres (housing, leisure, culture, education, green spaces employment)
